Can you volunteer for Code Club?

Code Club is a nationwide network of volunteer-led after school coding clubs for children aged 9-11.

We need people who know how to program computers to volunteer to run a club at their local primary school for an hour once a week.

We create the projects for our volunteers to teach, the projects we make show children how to program by showing them how to make computer games, animations and websites.

Get involved, let’s teach the next generation to code!
